HURRICANE IS DIMINISHING OVER FLORIDA

Tropical Storm Expected To Blow Self Out Over Georgia and Carolinas

BAROMETER IS RISING

Miami, Fla., Oct. 8—(P)—A hurricane which boiled up in the Western Caribbean to whirl furiously toward the thickly populated Florida west coast miraculously lost its force today, sparing the area from heavy damage.

Tampa, St. Petersburg, and other resort cities in the Tampa bay area had prepared for the worst. But the worst turned out to be only moderately high winds early today which swept up on the Florida mainland, turning inland and heading toward south Georgia and South Carolina.

A freakish twist, as often is the history of tropical storms, brought relief to the worried, rich west coast. The 125-mile an hour winds suddenly dropped to gusts of 50 miles or so. There was no official explanation—only relief.

Even the bumper citrus crop appeared to have escaped. First reports from Lakeland, heart of the grapefruit and orange belt, said the loss was minor. A record-making crop with a value of $150,000,000 has been forecast for this season.

The weakened hurricane which breezed across the Florida peninsula this morning was expected to remain inland with continued movement over southeastern Georgia and South Carolina today and tonight although strong winds were indicated as far north as Atlantic City.

The federal storm warning service in a 7:15 a.m. advisory placed the storm a short distance west of Jacksonville and moving 30 to 35 miles an hour with greatly "decreased intensity."

Jacksonville had felt winds up to 45 miles an hour in gusts with lowest pressure 29.20, the advisory stated.

The hurricane with early winds reported as high as 125 miles an hour at the center entered the mouth of Tampa bay about midnight with great loss of intensity and moved across the state's rich citrus belt.

Police Chief E. A. Garner at Sarasota reported no damage at Sarasota, Bradenton, Punta Gorda or elsewhere along that area of the Florida west coast.

Tampa, St. Petersburg and other centers in the Tampa bay area likewise reported no damage and very little wind, as the storm veered inland near the entrance to Tampa bay, where Egmont key reported winds up to 55 miles an hour.

Ship Stoppage Is Blamed On Coast Owners

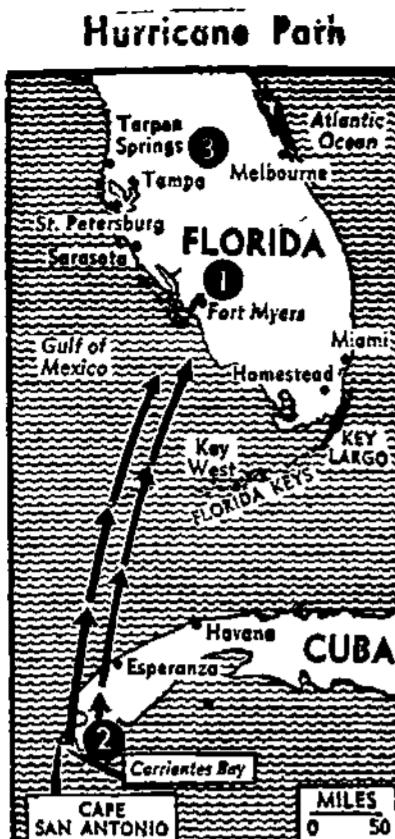

Washington, Oct. 8—(P)—Lewis G. Hines, AFL legislative representative, accused west coast shipowners today of deliberately delaying strike settlement negotiations, saying they were content to let the ship stoppage continue while they collect government commissions.

Angrily, Hines told reporters in the presence of Marion Plant, representative of the Pacific American Shipowners Association, that the westerners were using minor differences with eastern operators as "levers."

The American Federation of Labor representative said "we're going to take this whole issue to Congress."

Later, Plant explained that shipowners serving as agents of the Maritime Commission do receive a fee for their services, as employees. He could not say whether this was going on during the strike.

Danger of Flood Hazard In Filling of the Mill Race To Be Probed By Borough Council

Recent sale of all riparian rights and the land of the old mill pond in the center of the city by Floyd Newmaker to John O. Hanna was called to the attention of Council last evening by W. E. Rice, Mr. Rice stated that the sale attracts attention to the fact that filling in of the old pond might cause a flood hazard by backing up waters of the Conewango creek and Allegheny river. The fact that old maps show a series of islands in the river and creek has raised the question as to whether or not an encroachment would be made on the river. He suggested that a conference would be held with U. S. Engineer W. A. Lorence, of Pittsburgh. To that end Borough Solicitor Sidney Blackman was instructed to arrange a meeting with Col. Lorence here to delve into the matter.

Mr. Blackman also spoke relative to the matter and recalled that on maps made in early days five islands were shown in the river. He also recalled that the maps showed no opening through lands now used for Pennsylvania avenue just west of the Pennsylvania avenue bridge over the Conewango and that the opening for the mill race had been cut and man-made.

One new member was added to the Council last evening by the election of A. E. Johnson to fill the vacancy from the Second ward caused by the resignation of C. P. DeLong.

Dean Anderson, of the Warren Baking Company, appeared before Council asking for an extension of time for the installing of a switch to their plant on Fourth avenue. An ordinance was prepared and passed three times by which the company will receive a two months extension of time. Inability of the New York Central railroad to secure a spur was cited as the cause of the delay in construction. The sidewalk proposed under the plan is already built.

Representatives of the Pittsburgh Pipe Cleaning Company appeared with a proposition to clean sewers in the city and to take out all deposits in the sewers. The matter as referred to the sewer committee and following the Council meeting a conference was held in the City Engineers office by the sewer committee and the men representing the pipe cleaning company.

A query relative to making a change in the zoning ordinance whereby a $25,000 building to be used as a salesroom and garage could be erected on Pennsylvania avenue was also received. Some discussion followed and the matter was referred to the zoning and a committee to be appointed was arranged.

The finance committee reported the following amounts in the various borrowing funds: General $146,954.04; Permanent street $8,681.82; Sewers $5,443.50 (overdrawn); Sinking $12,125.75; Parks $10,525.11. Bills in the sum of $25,566.99 were ordered paid following approval by the various committees.

It was also reported that $6000 in bonds had been paid thus reducing the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the borough to $22,000.

It was also suggested that servicemen be exonerated of the occupational tax and the matter on vote was acted upon favorably.

The woman was convicted on March 17, 1945 and the penalty was fixed as death by the jury. Later the state supreme court reviewed the case and upheld the verdict of the Philadelphia court. The U. S. supreme court also refused to consider an appeal.

Her only hope of escaping the death sentence is another respite from Governor Martin. If she dies she will be the second woman to be electrocuted in Pennsylvania.

Board Denies Clemency Plea of Negro Maid

Harrisburg, Oct. 8—(P)—Corrine Sykes, 22, Philadelphia negro housemaid, sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of October 14 for the murder of Mrs. Freda Wodlinger, has been denied a plea for clemency by the state board of pardons.

Board Chairman John C. Bell, Jr., state's lieutenant governor said yesterday that "after an extensive study of the case," the board "has not found anything of sufficient merit to warrant a re-argument, or can it justify a commutation of the death penalty to life imprisonment."

This convicted woman was scheduled to die the week of Sept. 30 but three days before that date Governor Martin granted a stay of execution until the week of Oct. 14, in order to allow three known psychiatrists to examine her and also to permit the pardon board to act on her plea for a re-hearing.

Bell said in a statement "the board of pardons has very carefully considered her case and all the points, pleas and arguments presented in her behalf."

Norristown Pupil Suffocation Victim

Norristown, Oct. 8—(P)—Wesley Smartley, Jr., 17-year-old Norristown high school pupil, was found dead last night and his parents unconscious in their first floor apartment, apparent suffocation victims.

John C. Simpson, coroner's physician, described the death of Smartley as accidental. His parents, Wesley, 47, and Catherine, 42, are in Montgomery county hospital.

They were found by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Singleton, occupants of a second floor apartment. The elder Smartleys, fully clothed, were on a bed, beneath which a dog was lying dead. The youth was on a couch in the living room.

Democrats See GOP Rift In Dewey-Taft Tilt Over Trial

By the Associated Press
Senator Taft (R-Ohio) renewed and expanded his criticism of the Nuremberg war crimes trials today, apparently widening his split with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey though he denied any "intention of making any political issue."

Dewey, potentially a rival of Taft for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, came out bluntly last night in opposition to the views expressed Saturday by the Ohioian.

Democrats, meanwhile, had chorused criticism of Taft's remarks.

Today, through his Washington office, Taft issued a statement reiterating the opinion that "the whole plan of the Nuremberg trials was extremely unfortunate."

He said he did not criticize the courts for the conviction "but rather the whole novel and hypocritical procedure of the victors trying the vanquished for the crime of making war, under the form of judicial procedure."

TREATY DRAFT FOR ITALY IS CALLED HARSH

Rival Unions Seek Control Of Rebels In Power Strike

Belgian Foreign Minister
Resistance to Germans
Should Not Be Declared Null and Void

COUNCIL SPEEDING UP

By ROBERT EUNSON
Paris, Oct. 8—(P)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Great Britain told the peace conference today "unity was the foundation of our victory and must be the foundation of our peace."

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia presided at the plenary session.

Bevin's address followed a declaration by Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian foreign minister and president of the United Nations General Assembly, that the peace treaty drafted for Italy was too harsh in its present form.

"Renunciation of her colonies, $223,000,000 in reparations, refusal to allow Italy to ask reparations of Germany and retribution by 75 per cent of the losses suffered by Allied nations in Italy," the Belgian declared, is "asking too much."

He said the suffering which Italy caused in Ethiopia and Greece must be remembered in writing the Italian peace treaty, but that Italian resistance to the German occupation should not be declared "null and void." He lectured the delegates for adopting the last minute speedup under which much of the work of the conference was done in the closing sessions.

There was, he said, "too little to do at the start and now too much to do at the finish."

Constantin Tsaldaris, prime minister of Greece, called upon the delegates to reject articles 21 and 22 of the Italian treaty stipulate that Italy recognize and respect the sovereignty of Albania and granting the island of Sasevo to Albania.

Tsaldaris, last speaker scheduled for the morning session, tossed a bomb into the conference that was bound to cause reprecussions.

That negotiations are under way for a "loan" of 20,000,000 pounds of beef belonging to Great Britain to meet requirements for troops overseas.

The department had said earlier the negotiations were for Argentina's exportable surplus.

Today's announcement said that under plans being discussed with Britain the United States would repay the British with meat, pound for pound, prior to February 28.

The agriculture department meanwhile maintained strict silence on tentative plans for easing the domestic meat shortage as it awaited a formal demand that livestock price controls be ended.

The war department said delivery would be sought for early November. Combined requirements of the army, navy marine corps and war shipping administration, for which the army quartermaster general buys perishables, is 12,000,000 pounds of beef weekly.

However, only about 4,000,000 pounds weekly has been forthcoming in the past two weeks from federally-inspected packing plants. The war department said yesterday that of 20,000,000 pounds extra could be found it would relieve an immediate shortage by approximately 5,000,000 pounds weekly pending an expected increase in cattle slaughter about one month hence.

The group was told the contractor has been unable to secure the equipment to complete his contract and the request of the delegation that something be done regarding lighting in other rooms of the building was referred to the committee on buildings and repairs, with authorization to secure bids to finish up the job.

Principal Floyd Bathurst, reporting on "temperature" charts prepared following the visit of the evaluating committee on schools, stated these reports are not yet complete but such information as they contain will be made known to school patrons at an open meeting to be held at the high school building during National Education Week, the week of November 10th.

Superintendent John G. Rossman offered these tuition rates of nearby communities in comparison with those of $11.70 asked by the Warren School District: Bradford, $14.44; Corry, $11.35; Franklin, $11.15; Meadville, $14.44; Oil City, $11.40; Titusville, $12.46. It was explained, also, that many factors enter into determining rates for these out of the borough pupils, including the number of pupils per teacher, assessed evaluation, what the school offers in the way of curriculum.

Aides of Anderson reported meanwhile that the secretary is awaiting White House reaction to the proposals he discussed with President Truman last week for putting meat back on the nation's dinner tables.

BUTLER DENTIST DIES

Butler, Oct. 8—(P)—Dr. Frederick Vernon Waldron, retired, who had served Butler and its vicinity as a dentist for 57 years, died yesterday at his home at Slippery Rock Rd. 5. He was a native of Evans City and retired from practice four years ago.

Mr. Bathurst and Principal H. D. Harris, of Beatty building were authorized to attend the conference of secondary school principals to be held in Harrisburg on October 28-29.

There was some discussion concerning the boys' swimming at the YMCA, about 100 boys having indicated a desire for this institution and the board reimbursing the "Y" in the sum of $100 a month, the association providing the instructor. Approval was given a canning project, subject to approval and reimbursement of the department of public instruction in the amount of $480, Edna Thompson as instructor.

Reports showed the night school class in typing was started Monday evening, with 18 persons to be instructed by Joseph Pasarso; also that the veterans' school, the "Vets," is in operation this week for 12 persons. R. P. Young and Miss Edna Glasser to instruct in American history and various phases of mathematics. Another report showed 8,270 meals served in Beatty and high school buildings during 15 days of cafeteria operation in September; also (Turn to Page Nine)

Washington, Oct. 8—(P)—O.P.A. changed some of its price tag rules to end one official called "chiseling by some retailers."

Involved are many so-called "brand name" items such as clothing, shoes, furniture, rugs and shower curtains. Usually well-advertised and sold on a uniform price basis, the retail price ceiling tag has been placed on them by the manufacturer and producer.

Previously when this ceiling retailer to re-ticket his entire stock price advanced, O.P.A. allowed the program to get under way this week for 12 persons. R. P. Young and Miss Edna Glasser to instruct in American history and various phases of mathematics. Washington, Oct. 8—(P)—O.P.A. announced, so that sales are made on a basis of actual cost at the time of shipment—plus the legal profit margin at that time.

The result may be that some retailers will be offering identical "brand names" at different ceiling prices.

BACK-TO-WORK MOVEMENT IS DISCOUNTED

Duquesne Co. Spokesman Says But Few Of Office Staff Have Returned

ISSUES ARE DISCUSSED

Pittsburgh, Oct. 8—(P)—A Duquesne Light Company spokesman discounted a reported back-to-work movement today on the 15th day of a power strike, saying the return of a few men "here and there" was not enough "to indicate a trend."

The company spokesman said that among the few who returned were five office workers at the Allegheny County Steam Heating Company, a Duquesne subsidiary.

He pointed out that production workers are needed, along with uninterrupted coal supplies, before heating service can be resumed by this subsidiary to 234 downtown buildings. The company suspended service because picketing by independent power company unions interfered with coal deliveries.

Power strike issues were discussed at a meeting of Light Company disbursement department workers but a spokesman said the meeting was merely to "listen to some gripes" and that "we are solidly behind the strike and will continue to be that way."

Meanwhile, three other unions—two AFL and one CIO—were trying to take over the segment of 700 "rebel" members threatening to break away from the 3200 member Independent Association of Employees of the Duquesne Light Company.

The rival unions were the AFL-United Mine Workers, District 50; the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the CIO-Utility Workers Union.

All of these, along with the independent association, want their names on the collective bargaining election ballot, if and when the National Labor Relations Board decides an election is necessary.

The rebellion in the ranks of the independent union broke out nearly a week ago when spokesmen for the 700 said they were dissatisfied with the leadership of George L. Mettler, president of the independent union, and proposed an organization of their own.

Officially, it was reported that the NLRB expected to rule sometime today to whether an election to decide between the various unions was needed.

Meanwhile, the strike itself appeared tied into a tighter knot than ever. (Turn to Page Nine)

W. Virginia Miners Asking More Soap

Cincinnati, Oct. 8—(P)—The president of a West Virginia Coal Mining Company wants the federal government to do something about the shortage of soap in mining areas, but a spokesman for one of the world's largest soap manufacturers doubts if much can be accomplished immediately.

School Music Boosters Hold Fall Meeting

One of the largest turnouts in many months greeted the first fall meeting of the Warren School Music Boosters Club, held Monday evening in Beatty School auditorium.

Creed A. Erickson, presiding, asked for reports of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Bernice Swanson, and appointed as auditing committee, Mrs. W. C. Fuellhart, Basil White and Mrs. John Harrington. Expressing his appreciation of cooperation on the part of staff and members during his administration, he then introduced to the membership the new officers: Richard G. Smith, president; Lyte N. Schuler, vice president; Mrs. Harry Hutchings, secretary-treasurer.

Taking over, Mr. Smith announced cards will be mailed to remind members of future meetings, and led a discussion concerning the club's future activities in service to the various public school music groups.

Members acknowledged receipt of a gift from the former Warren Concert Association of approximately $30 in cash and stocks which members of the executive committee of the concert group had voted to present to the Boosters in its efforts to further school music. Presentation of the gift was made by Mr. Schuler in behalf of Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell, head of the concert organization.

The evening's program, on the different side, consisted of a regular band rehearsal held by Harry Summers and members of his son band. Soloists were Gail Bimber, cornetist, playing "In the Clouds" and Bill Yeager, whose two trombone selections were "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny". Mr. Summers and a number of students expressed opinions concerning the value of the Boosters-sponsored summer school for band and orchestra members, held under Mr. Summers' direction during July and August.

Wedding March Becomes Dirge, With Death the Bridegroom

Rose DeFabrizio, 21 of Lawrence, N. Y., and John Mastantuono, 21, were high school sweethearts. They became engaged three and a half years ago when he entered the Army, and when he was discharged early this year they began to plan their wedding. They bought furniture, linens and silverware and finally found a house. Then they set the big day. It was very exciting for Rose, and when she entered the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel at Inwood, Long Island, with her father, left above, her happiness was almost too much for her. A few minutes later she was walking down the aisle, and John was in a nearby room awaiting his cue. Rose's train became entangled and her father leaned over to straighten it. Rose collapsed. Outside, they gave her artificial respiration, at right above, but it was no use. Her physician said embarrassment, added to excitement, overburdened her heart.

Community Chest Subject Of Address Before Rotarians

The Rotary Club of Warren had packed house at its regular weekly luncheon meeting yesterday at the Y. W. C. A. James E. Hazelton, Jr., president of the club, called on Frank Parker, Jr., who was the day's program chairman. Mr. Parker told his fellow club members that he could think of no better program than to hear a little about the coming Community Chest campaign and that no one could give more information than the man he had asked to tell the story of the Chest and the part it played in Warren's daily life. He then introduced Chester S. Allen, vice president of the Warren Community Chest and in his usual quiet but forceful manner Mr. Allen led the Rotarians through the phases of the Chest's history from its inception. He reminded his listeners of the dark days of the '30's when with the banks closed and business going through depression, it was decided to let each agency take care of itself. There were six agencies in the Chest at that time and it was felt that it might mean that some would have to close. However, through the efforts of the many who believed Warren must keep its agencies, all survived, but it meant real labor and almost a continuous campaign.

He said that he worked on five separate campaigns in one year at a great cost of time and effort. In 1937 it was decided to revive the Chest and it was done at the earnest solicitation of many of Warren's business men who saw the futility of the many campaigns when one would take care of all.

Bringing the story down to the present time, Mr. Allen commented on the success of the War Fund campaigns and how sure he felt that the forthcoming campaign, which concerns Warren alone, would be equally successful. In organizing for this year, he said that special emphasis is being placed in the fact that this is ONE campaign for NINE agencies. Contributions are being sought in the basis of giving the value of eight hours work for the nine agencies with payments to be made at convenient intervals.

"Warren is a grand place in which to live and do business," said Mr. Allen and closed his remarks by suggesting that all Rotarians remember that it is one campaign for nine and to carry the message of eight hours pay back to their offices, plants and shops.

Among those present as guests of the Club were Karl M. Knapp, president of the Pittsburgh Rotary Club, Alfred Anderson, new supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest, and Henry Candy of the Warren Community Chest campaign.

He said that he worked on five separate campaigns in one year at a great cost of time and effort. In 1937 it was decided to revive the Chest and it was done at the earnest solicitation of many of Warren's business men who saw the futility of the many campaigns when one would take care of all.

DESOLATE PITTSBURGH

The Magazine Steel describes Pittsburgh as "desolate, defenseless and despondent," and says it is in a state near anarchy.

"The city most closely resembling Pittsburgh in its present predicament is Mukden, Manchuria," the publication says in an editorial.

"Mukden, with a postwar swollen population of more than 3,000,000 has no piped water, no street car transportation and only a few feeble electric lights.

"In its once pretentious Shenyang Railway hotel, elevators run only occasionally, electric lights glow dimly spasmodically, and toilets are flushed infrequently."

The magazine says Mukden is in its present condition because the Soviets stripped Manchuria of much of its industrial and power generating equipment. Since then, it says, the Chinese Communist army has cut power lines, blown up bridges and otherwise slowed repair.

In Pittsburgh, the editorial states, "management and employees of a power company are at loggerheads. Members of other unions refused to cross power employee picket lines. Hotel employees are on strike.

"Residents in many sections of Pittsburgh are deprived of public transportation, restricted to one lighted lamp per home, urged to use water sparingly and inconvenienced in numerous other ways," the editorial continues.

"The Chinese in Manchuria were confronted with a menace from outside the nation—a stripping of facilities by a foreign power beyond their own control.

"In the Pittsburgh case, federal state and local authorities are not plagued by outside influences.

"Every factor in the situation is well within their control, yet they seem to be powerless to act for the people."

SCIENTIFIC SNOOZING

We see where science, having pretty well licked the problem of how to blow up or poison most of mankind, is again turning its attention to the familiar but still baffling phenomenon of sleep. At least some of the General Electric scientists are tackling it.

They're investigating, we understand, the claim of some experts (including your grandmother and ours) that it's the quality of the sleep you get in your first few hours in bed that counts. They're also investigating meteorological and seasonal factors. And they've already discovered that women are colder than men. Lower metabolism, that's why.

What may come of all this is a two-control automatic blanket, and perhaps one that can be heated regionally, or zonally, on each side. We're all for that, as any sensible person is bound to be. We don't know what such a gadget would do for sleep, but it looks like a great boon to domestic felicity.

We can see only one drawback. By the time Pa and Ma get the port and starboard sides of the electric blanket adjusted and have made further regional fore-and-aft regulations to their liking, it's just possible that one or more of those refreshing early sleeping hours might be gone.

TRAFFIC HAZARDS

Council last evening by a vote of eight to four turned down a proposed police regulation by which east bound busses of the local transportation service would receive and discharge passengers on the south side of Pennsylvania Avenue opposite the waiting room.

The matter had been given the attention of the burgess, police and street committee. It was deemed a hazardous thing to do as the eight councilmen feared that people crossing the street might get hurt.

Evidently they did not realize the dangers created by the busses circling the triangle around the Warren Bank and Trust building impeding traffic and slowing service of all motor vehicles in that sector.

The fact that four or five parking meters might be displaced in the arrangement perhaps helped the "revenue only" boys in making up their minds.

HER LEASE HAS EXPIRED

A 72-year-old Iowa woman, having completed a 35-year murder sentence, doesn't want to leave prison. The state, it is reported, may take steps to evict her.

Let her stay, we say. Enough's enough. She has paid her debt to society, according to law. So why punish her again by throwing her out of a nice comfortable jail right into the midst of the housing shortage?

Or maybe the prison has a waiting list, too.

AN ANCIENT PROFESSION

• Pharmacy is one of the oldest of all the learned professions. It had its beginning more than four thousand years ago, and has been practiced in one form or another ever since. The modern drug store bears little resemblance to the apothecary of old. Yet, today's pharmacist is inspired by the same honorable principles that governed the conduct of his forebears. The pharmacist's chief interest, now as then, is the relief of suffering and the prolongation of life. Prescriptions come first in our store. Your doctor may not like to recommend any particular pharmacy, but he will never complain if you bring his prescriptions to us.

Fire Hazards Increase In Cold Weather

Cold weather brings more fires. Men are kept busier than ever saving lives and putting out fires in fall and winter weather, warns the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Census Bureau figures averaged for six years show deaths from fire increase almost 150 per cent from August to January. Destruction of property by fire mounts up 30 per cent in the same months.

One cause of this jump in destructive fires is starting furnaces and stoves for the cold weather season without first checking them for defects and cleaning pipes and flues. Under heavy winter use more equipment becomes dangerous and causes fires.

The following safety steps are recommended before real winter sets in: Inspect heating plants and chimneys. Clean out soot thoroughly. Look for worn, damaged or rusted parts in equipment and have them replaced or repaired. Check the smokepipe for holes through which sparks might fly; replace if necessary. If chimney is cracked or if mortar is damaged, have repairs made.

Look especially for burnable material blackened from radiated heat because of insufficient space between stove and wall. The minimum safe clearance is 18 inches. If clearance cannot be increased, insulate with sheet asbestos. Be sure the method of operating the heating plant is safe. Never "force" a furnace that does not provide enough heat. Instead, call in a heating expert to make the plant function efficiently.

Always put hot ashes into metal containers. Place a metal screen in front of the fireplace to protect children who may play too close to the fire, and to prevent heat sparks setting fire to rugs and flooring. Keep portable oil heaters in safe condition and place them where they can't be knocked over or ignite curtains.

These safety suggestions are offered as part of the Fire Prevention Week to save lives and property.

Charter Is Presented To YMCA Troop

At an impressive ceremony conducted last night at the YMCA, that institution was granted the annual charter which affiliates Boy Scout Troop 7 with the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America for another year. Frank Parker, local Scout executive, officiated in the formal presentation.

After the charter presentation Lacy Johnson, scoutmaster for the troop, inducted the newest member, Donald Wilcox, into the troop membership, and presented new cards to the old members.

In response to an invitation by the troop committee, a number of the boys' parents turned out to witness the ceremony.

During the evening Harold Baker, committee chairman, presented registration certificates to the committee members in attendance. Ending the program was a demonstration of fire-by-friction by troop members.

CAMPAIGN NEWS

G. O. P. MEETING
Harrisburg, Oct. 8—(1)—Re-Harrisburg, Oct. 8—(2)—Re-to their home counties today with a warning from top party leaders against over-confidence in Pennsylvania's general election campaign.

They were urged at a luncheon meeting yesterday to intensify efforts to get out the vote on election day.

The warnings were delivered by Governor Martin, nominee for the U. S. Senate; Attorney General James H. Duff, for governor, and Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor.

"We have been taking too much for granted," said Governor Martin. "There is a wave of resentment going out over the nation against what is happening in Washington but that doesn't get the ballots into the ballot box."

Emphasizing the danger of too much confidence, Duff said "it is not the Democratic party that is a threat; it is the PAC" (Political Action Committee).

Taylor pledged all county chairmen to get out and see every precinct chairman in their counties.

GUFFEY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 6—(AP)—Senator Joseph F. Guffey, opening the Pittsburgh Democratic campaign last night, "charged" Governor Martin, his Republican opponent for the senate, with having shown a "willingness to deal" with Communist leaders "and to use them in prompting his political ambitions."

Speaking in emergency-lighted Northside Carnegie Hall, Guffey threw out this question to the governor:

"If you are such a foe to the Communists, why did you permit the Communist party to be placed on the ballot in Pennsylvania, in the face of an existing opinion by the attorney general of the United States?"

"I charge that you permitted the Communist party on the ballot with the deliberate intention of making political use of them in this election."

Guffey declared that for himself he "would repudiate Communist support if I had it, and I don't have it and don't want it, even when it comes to me with the sponsorship of Governor Martin and his office. x x x."

WE'RE BREAKING INSTALLATION RECORDS EVERY MONTH

New demand continues but shortages still plague us unprecedented demand and continuing shortages of such basic materials as copper and lead and tin and zinc and steel and lumber and paper and textiles, we're breaking our own installation records every month.

... And Faster Headway Lies Ahead

This Fall and Winter and next Spring we'll make huge additions to our Pennsylvania plant, spending millions more of the 150 millions that we have earmarked for our expansion program, providing enough new facilities to take a big chunk out of our waiting lists—to make telephone service available for thousands who are waiting.

Meanwhile, we want you to remember that we have the will, the know-how, and the organization to make every minute count.

The day can't come soon enough when we shall be able to offer the world's finest telephone service to anyone who wants it anywhere in the territory we serve.

The PAK Hiking Club enjoyed its third outdoor jaunt on October 5th under the direction of Perry McDowell. The Eagar Beavers Hiking Kids started out on the forest land between Kinzua and Hook Run and covered a distance approximated at five and one-half miles.

"Tis said the hikers still had plenty of energy left on the return trip from Wardwell, as some singing was heard by everyone within a radius of one mile.

At the first resting point, the PAK Hikers' Log for the first two trips was read. Then Marty Winkler was elected as future log-keeper and Yvonne Miller was elected to handle publicity.

The only casualties were skinned knees suffered by Janey Tritt. It was announced future hikes will be announced later, and all are looking forward to these events.

It Was a Ball Game, All Right

From the press box at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, come NEA Sports Cartoonist Al Vermeer's impressions of the World Series opener.

World Series Notes

By JOE REICHLER
Enroute To Boston, Oct. 8—(AP)
The biggest mystery among baseball men today was Ted Williams, stubborn refusal even to attempt a hit to left field, which has been more desolate than the Sahara whenever the Boston Red Sox slugger comes to bat in this current World Series.

"Williams considers that right side switch a person challenge he won't bunt nor try to 'poke a ball into left field—not the 'way he owes to hit home runs," remarked one observer.

However, Williams admitted he tried not once, but twice yesterday to hit one down the third base line, but twice entirely uncovered by Eddie Dyer strategy.

"I haven't quit because I believe I'll get my share of hits no matter what defense they cook up for me," aid Ted. "But that guy Brecheen."

The Boss

Owner Tom Yawkey appears to be figuring it out from ringside seat at World Series. Most people believed man of many millions had right answer in Red Sox.

(Harry Brecheen) had so much stuff out there today I thought I'd try checking my swing a bit. I tried to hit to left in my last turn at bat, but missed one swing completely, and fouled out near the third base boxes the next time.

Just how successful has been Dyer's "leftist movement" is anybody but the pitcher, catcher, and umpires were sharply to the left of Williams, is best explained by the fact the Boston slugger has been held to one hit in seven official trips to the plate. In Sunday's opener, Al Schoendienst threw him out on a line drive that ordinarily would have gone through the hole between first and second. Stan Musial, hitting the right field line, took a hit away from Ted in the first inning yesterday, and in the sixth Schoendienst was in perfect position to snare a screaming liner from Williams.

Incidentally, the highly touted Williams-Musial slugging duel has failed to materialize thus far. Each has made only one hit, but Musial's was a double as compared with Williams' one baser. Stan however, has driven in two of his team's five runs while Williams is still looking for his first R. B. I.

When the Red Sox won the opener, many of the 500 World Series scribes were convinced the series would end in Boston, and yesterday's triumph by the Cards, strangely enough, did not cause many to change their minds. Many now think the series will end in Boston, all right, but that St. Louis may take all the remaining games.

After watching the Red Birds outlast and outmaneuver the Red Sox in both games, the writers envisioned a replica of the World Series of 1942, when the underdog St. Louis team came back from the highly favored New York Yankees.

When Dick Sisler, son of the immortal George, grounded out in the ninth inning in a pinch hit role, he had the satisfaction of having accomplished in his rookie year something his famous father never

BRECHEEN'S SCREWBALL PUTS CARDINALS BACK EVEN WITH BOSTON; FERRISS HURLING

By JACK HAND

Enroute To Boston, Oct. 8—(AP)
—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen's darting screwball, the best any holdovers as Terry Moore, Enos Slaughter, Whitey Krosowski, Marty Marion and Stan Musial, lefthander has shown since Carl Hubbell quit, has restored the 1946 World Series to an even proposition.

As the teams took the day off for travel to Boston's Fenway Park after splitting the first two in St. Louis, Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox still had an ace up his sleeve—Dave (Boo) Ferriss, who had reeled off 25 victories of the Sox total of 104. But he now will be able to see on limited action.

SERIES WEATHER
Boston, Oct. 8—(AP)—Revising an earlier forecast, the Boston weather bureau said today that it "won't be very good weather" for the third World Series game tomorrow between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Red Sox.

The forecaster said it would be "cloudy, rainy, windy and quite cool."

An earlier report said it might be an ideal day—Sunny and warm.

By holding out Ferriss to work the third game tomorrow against Murry Dickson at Fenway Park, Cronin probably will be unable to get more than two games out of his ace winner.

More than one baseball observer sensed in the Cardinals' aggressive play during the first two games the hint of a tremendous upset of the pre-series dope—an upset comparable to the one the fleet 1942 Redbirds handed the mighty New York Yankees.

Billy Southworth was gone, but

Harris pitched a good enough ball game to win nine times out of ten, but even Smoky Joe Wood, Red Sox pitching hero of old, had to have at least one run.

The series now will continue at least through Friday at Boston, and is quite likely to be carried to a sixth game Sunday back at Sportsman's Park. A seventh, if necessary, will be played in St. Louis a week from today, after a Monday off for selling tickets.

Second game by innings:

Boston (AL) .000 000 000—0 4 1

St. Louis (NL) .001 020 000—3 6 0

Harris, Dobson (8) and Partee, Wagner (8); Brecheen and Rice.
